

KEYNOTE SPEAKER, EXECUTIVE LEADER,
CHANGE MAKER

WOMEN IN SAFETY: REDEFINING SAFETY AND MENTAL WELL-BEING IN HIGH-RISK INDUSTRIES

DESCRIPTION

This keynote emphasizes why women should consider safety roles in high-risk industries as a dynamic career path, while also urging leaders to recognize the untapped potential of women for these critical positions. With the growing focus on enhancing safety and mental well-being, women bring valuable perspectives and problem-solving skills that are essential for redefining safety practices. Kelli will share how women are already making significant strides in the safety sector, showing that they are an ideal fit for these roles. By hiring women for safety positions, organizations can foster a more inclusive, effective safety culture and improve workplace well-being.

OBJECTIVES

1

EMPOWERING WOMEN TO CONSIDER SAFETY CAREERS

Discover how safety can be a rewarding career that offers opportunities for leadership and growth in industries on the precipice of change.

2

UNCOVERING UNTAPPED TALENT

Uncover the impact of hiring women for safety positions and how their unique perspectives and problem-solving abilities can redefine safety.

3

PRIORITIZING SAFETY AND WELL-BEING

Examine the critical importance of safety and mental well-being in high-risk industries